

Jeanne Marie Kohr holds a Bachelor of Music Education (Voice/Conducting) from Phillips University, Enid, Oklahoma, Orff-Schulwerk Certification Levels I and II from the University of Memphis, TN, and a Master of Arts in Theology (Liturgy/Systematic Theology) from St. John's University, Collegeville, Minnesota.

Jeanne Marie has been employed as the Director of Liturgy & Music (and recently added RCIA and Confirmation) for St. Matthew Apostle Catholic Church in Kansas City, Missouri for over seven years. She has also facilitated workshops on a variety of liturgical subjects at other parishes around town.

In addition to her parish work, Jeanne Marie has served as a member of the Diocesan Liturgy Music Commission, assisted with the development of the Kansas City-St. Joseph Diocesan Cantor Training program and has facilitated numerous Cantor Training workshops in the region. Jeanne Marie has also served as Cantor at numerous diocesan liturgies. Most recently, Jeanne Marie developed "The Singing Deacon," a podcast designed to provide deacon and diaconate candidate liturgical singing instruction. Jeanne Marie sings second soprano with the KC Symphony Chorus and maintains a small studio of music students, ranging in age from 4-54. Jeanne Marie is always willing to discuss the possibility of joining her vocal studio.

Jeanne Marie particularly welcomes opportunities to provide Cantor/Choral Training or other Liturgical Training or Information workshops to parishes, and is happy to tailor a workshop to meet the needs of your church. Please feel free to contact her via email to discuss your needs!
